Kursens innehåll

Kursen består av tre delkurser: Statsvetenskapliga metoder 7,5 hp, en valbar specialkurs 7,5 hp samt Seminarium med uppsatsarbete 15 hp.

Kursen ger fördjupade kunskaper inom något av statsvetenskapens områden: orientering om olika statsvetenskapliga perspektiv; kunskap om statsvetenskapliga forskningsproblem och metoder. Dessutom görs ett val mellan ett antal olika specialområden som syftar till dels en fördjupning, dels en relevant utgångspunkt för det självständiga arbetet. Inom ramen för en statsvetenskaplig undersökning skall vetenskapliga metoder och teorier användas för att belysa empiriska/teoretiska problem inom ämnet.

Förväntade studieresultat

Efter avslutad kurs förväntas studenten kunna:

Kunskap och förståelse

- Redogöra för:

- centrala teorier och perspektiv, både muntligt och skriftligt, inom olika specialområden som kursen utgörs av;
- centrala problemställningar inom statsvetenskaplig forskning och aktuella forskningsfrågor;
- interaktiva materialinsamlingsmetoder, kvantitativa och textanalytiska metoder samt metoder för att studera policy och implementering.

- Förstå och exemplifiera:

- hur olika teorier/perspektiv kan belysa politikfrågor inom olika specialområden;
- betydelsen av forskningsdesign, dvs. kopplingen mellan problemställning, val av metod och de resultat som redovisas;
- möjligheter och begränsningar med interaktiva materialinsamlingsmetoder, kvantitativa och textanalytiska metoder samt metoder för att studera policy och implementering;
- de olika delarna i forskningsprocessen.

Färdighet och förmåga

- Visa förmåga att:

- tillämpa relevanta teorier på ett självständigt sätt;
- tillämpa relevanta metoder inom ramen för det självständiga arbetet;
- använda en akademisk skrivstil;

Värderingsförmåga och förhållningssätt

- Visa förmåga att:

- värdera, jämföra och kontrastera teorier och metoder på ett självständigt och kritiskt sätt i så väl muntlig som skriftlig form.

Undervisning

I huvudsak utgörs undervisning av seminarier. På delkursen Statsvetenskapliga metoder förekommer också föreläsningar. Närvaro vid seminarier är obligatorisk. Frånvaro kompletteras med skriftlig inlämningsuppgift. Mer information om komplettering ges i samband med kursstart.

På delkursen självständigt arbete förekommer både individuell och kollektiv handledning. Riktmärke för studentens rätt till handledning är 12 timmar/student. I dessa timmar ingår såväl kollektiv som individuell handledning samt lärarens tid för att läsa texter som studenten lämnar in till dessa tillfällen. Student som vill byta handledare ska kontakta studierektor, som administrerar bytet i mån av resurser. Student som under det aktuella kurstillfället inte blir klar i tid med ett påbörjat självständigt arbete har inte rätt till mer handledartid. Dock har studenten alltid rätt att få sitt arbete bedömt vid efterföljande examinationstillfälle.

Kunskapskontroll och examination

Examinationsformerna varierar beroende på delkurs. Fyra olika examinationsformer tillämpas: salstentamen, hemskrivning, inlämningsuppgifter samt ett självständigt arbete. Information om examination lämnas i början av respektive delkurs.

Vid betygsättning används en sjugradig målrelaterad skala där A, B, C, D, och E är graderingar av godkända betyg. F och Fx används som graderingar av underkänt. Kursens betygskriterier delas ut vid kursstart.

Studerande som fått betyget F eller FX på ett prov två gånger av en examinator har rätt att begära att en annan examinator utses för att bestämma betyg på provet.

Begränsningar:

Antalet provtillfällen är begränsat till fem.

På delkurser som examineras genom hemtentamen eller självständigt arbete kan komplettering av examinationsuppgiften medges om betyget är Fx och om information om att komplettering finns som möjlighet på kursen återfinns i studiehandledning för den aktuella kurser. Den kompletterande uppgiften ska i dessa fall lämnas in inom en vecka efter att kompletteringsuppgift har meddelats av examinator. Vid godkänd komplettering av brister av förståelsekaraktär: mindre missförstånd, smärre felaktigheter eller i någon del alltför begränsade resonemang, används betyget E. Vid godkänd komplettering av enklare formaliafel används betygen A-E. Komplettering medges aldrig för salskrivning.

Övergångsbestämmelser

När kursplanen är upphävd har studenten rätt att examineras en gång per termin enligt föreliggande kursplan under en avvecklingsperiod på tre terminer.

Övrigt

Kursen får ej medtagas i examen samtidigt som Statsvetenskap på engelska III SVE300, Statsvetenskap III SVS300 och SV300S, Påbyggnadskurs i statsvetenskap (SV3060) eller Påbyggnadskurs i statsvetenskap på engelska (SV3560).

Kurslitteratur

DELKURS 1: METHODS IN POLITICAL SCIENCE 7,5 HP

Delkursen syftar till att ge fördjupade kunskaper om metoder som används inom statsvetenskaplig forskning. Kursen består av tre block som fokuserar på analysmetoder: kvantitativa metoder, textanalytiska metoder samt metoder för att studera policy och implementering. Vidare tar kursen upp interaktiva materialinsamlingsmetoder, forskningsdesign och vetenskapsteoretiska frågeställningar. Inom ramen för kursen inkluderas en introduktion till statistikprogrammet SPSS samt verktyg för att kunna ringa in ett forskningsfält och hitta tidigare forskning. Delkursen ger vidare verktyg för granskning av statsvetenskaplig forskning och tillämpning av olika metoder.

MÅL

Kunskaper och förståelse

Efter delkursen förväntas studenterna kunna:

- * redogöra för interaktiva materialinsamlingsmetoder, statistiska och textanalytiska analysmetoder samt metoder för att studera policy och implementering;
- * förklara och exemplifiera vad en forskningsdesign är och hur den kan se ut och vilka vetenskapsteoretiska problem som aktualiseras vid användandet av olika metoder.

Färdigheter och förmågor

Efter delkursen förväntas studenterna kunna:

- * tillämpa interaktiva materialinsamlingsmetoder som intervjuer och surveys, olika statistiska analysmetoder, olika textanalytiska metoder samt metoder för studier av policy och implementering;
- * jämföra och kontrastera olika metoder för materialinsamling och analys;
- * ringa in ett forskningsfält och söka efter tidigare litteratur;
- * göra enklare statistiska analyser med hjälp av SPSS.

Värderingsförmåga och förhållningssätt

Efter delkursen förväntas studenterna kunna:

- * resonera kring för- och nackdelar med de olika materialinsamlings- och analysmetoder som presenterats under kursen;
- * granska och värdera statsvetenskapliga undersökningar med avseende på insamlings- och analysmetoder;
- * reflektera över för- och nackdelar samt vetenskapsteoretiska dilemman i de egna metodvalen, samt att förhålla sig resonerande till dessa val.

- COURSE MODULE 2: SPECIAL COURSE 7,5 HP
- 378: A NEW WORLD ORDER?
- DESCRIPTION
The course part deals with major perspectives on and descriptions of the contemporary world order as well as discussions of prospects for change. Central themes include relations of globalization and transnationalism, conceptions of empire and the capitalist world-system and the role of conflict, militarism, war and other forms of violence. Fundamental to these themes are understandings of the "political" and the "economic". A broad range of issues are problematized, in particular antagonisms entailed in universalism - particularism and aspects of "we-they": global - state, core - periphery, democracy - liberalism as well as notions of class, ethnicity and gender. Counterforces in the form of democratic processes and political action are also discussed as they apply to various views on future world orders.
- LEARNING OUTCOMES
Knowledge and Understanding
Upon completion of the course part, students are expected to be able to:
* identify and provide accounts of major perspectives on the contemporary world order and how it can and should be changed;

* discuss the implications of major perspectives on the contemporary world order for practical politics.

Skills and Abilities

Upon completion of the course part, students are expected to be able to:

* apply basic concepts and approaches reflected in major perspectives on the contemporary world order to current political phenomena and events;

* compare and contrast major perspectives on the contemporary world order and how it can and should be changed.

Evaluation and Approach

Upon completion of the course part, students are expected to be able to:

* critically examine and evaluate arguments for and against different perspectives on the contemporary world order in a manner that is well supported and justified;

* critically examine and evaluate arguments for and against the prospects for and desirability of changes foreseen and/or advocated by different perspectives on the contemporary world order.

379: SECURITY IN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

DESCRIPTION

This course aims to provide students with different conceptual and theoretical tools in order to study and analyze contemporary security problems and security strategies in international politics. Students will be introduced to a wide range of security issues and asked to consider how different theoretical perspectives – including Realism, Constructivism, Securitization, International Political Sociology and Poststructuralism – can be used for analyzing these issues.

The first part of the course focuses on the impact of ideology on foreign and security policy, with special emphasis on relations between the United States and some Middle Eastern states. Moreover, issues of “continuity” and “change” in foreign and security policy will be explored by drawing upon a series of empirical cases. The foreign and security policy of “small states”, including Sweden, will receive particular attention in this regard.

The second part of the course examines the relationship between security and different forms of insecurity, and looks at how the production of threats, fears and dangers plays a vital role in the development of new security strategies. We will also discuss the challenges of moving beyond the “state” as the dominant category for thinking about “who” or “what” should be made secure, for example by trying to introduce the “human” or the “environment” as the primary “subject of security”.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

After completion of the course, students are expected to be able to:

- Discuss different conceptual and theoretical approaches to “security”;
- Discuss alternative explanations of security problems, historical as well contemporary ones;
- Critically engage with different readings of current trends and forces in international security;
- Discuss, in written and oral form, issues pertaining to security problems and different strategies to cope with them.

380: STATE, CIVIL SOCIETY AND DEMOCRATIZATION IN THE THIRD WORLD

DESCRIPTION

The course part aims at problematizing the relationship between the state, civil society and democratization, both theoretically and empirically, in a context of globalization. The point of departure is the contemporary academic debate on the role of civil society in democratization and development. Different perspectives are juxtaposed and discussed against a backdrop of what the organization looks like in different contexts in the third world, and whether movements in civil society support or contest democratization. The transnationalization of both state and civil society and its consequences for democracy and democratization is also addressed.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

After completion of the course part, students are expected to be able to:

- identify and different perspectives on the relationship between the state and civil society, and its links to democracy and democratization;
- compare and evaluate the relevance of different social theories attempts at making sense of the role of civil society in processes of democratization;
- identify similarities and differences between cases, as represented in the course literature, of the role of civil society in processes of democratization in the third world;
- present, both orally and in writing, independent analyses of the relationships addressed on the course.

384: INTERNATIONAL POLITICAL ECONOMY

DESCRIPTION

The course aims at exploring, problematising and analysing arguments, controversies, policies and outcomes in international political economy. The course focuses on the interaction of economics and politics, of the market and the state, with special emphasis on how economical and political motives and incentives interact with each other to produce policy outcomes in terms of conflict or co-operation. Specific phenomena studied include the politics of international trade and finance, the role of currencies, the functioning of international economic institutions, the importance of the international economic system for economic development, and the role played by multinational corporations and foreign direct investments (FDI).

LEARNING OUTCOMES

After completion of the course part, students are expected to be able to:

- identify and understand different models that are important for analysing the mechanisms behind international economic policy outcomes;
- identify and understand the interaction between political and economical motives and incentives in the international economic system;
- analyse economic co-operation and conflict at different levels of analysis (actor/state/system);
- present independent analysis of international political-economic phenomena in oral as well as written form, based on analytical perspectives in the course;
- compare and evaluate the merits and weaknesses of various scientific theories and arguments about the international political economy discussed in the course.

COURSE MOUDLE 3: INDEPENDENT RESEARCH PROJECT

DESCRIPTION

The Independent Research Project within Political Science III consists of an investigation of a political science problem connected to the special course chosen by the student. The independent research project takes the form of a research paper which is planned to take approximately two months of full-time studies. Every workshop is managed by a teacher from one of the special courses. The subject for the research paper is chosen in consultation with the supervisor/workshop teacher of the special course.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

After completing the course the student should be able to:

- formulate a political science research problem;
- plan, conduct and, in the form of a research paper, present a social science study, which includes argumentation, analysis and interpretation of results, within a set time frame;
- express himself/herself clearly in accordance with scientific practice;
- carry through a relevant application of a social science method, as well as discuss advantages and disadvantages of different approaches;
- collect empirical material in a broad sense and analyze the material from theoretical and normative perspectives;
- critically examine scientific work and discuss merits and deficiencies;
- demonstrate an ability to make judgments with respect to relevant scientific, social and ethical aspects;
- show independence and demonstrate a critical approach to the research project, including the ability to critically reflect on the research paper, its various parts and conclusions;
- take part in written and oral presentation and discussion of the independent research paper as well as an oral examination and discussion of other independent research papers.

In addition, the research paper has to meet the scope criteria and regulations issued at the start of the course.

The grading criteria will be adapted from the learning outcomes, and will be distributed at the start of the course.
