Course content

The course provides students with an overview of theories in the subject of semantics, broadly defined to encompass all types of linguistic meanings, as well as practice in applying them to authentic examples. Central parts of the course deal with cognition, semantic structures, different kinds of meaning functions and their interaction, and lexical as well as grammatical meaning relations.

Learning outcomes

In order to pass the course, students are expected to be able to:

- explain central terminology within the areas studied;
- apply it in the analysis of authentic empirical material of various kinds;
- critically analyse the validity of semantic theories in relation to different types of linguistic communication;
- formulate possible research questions for the study of semantic issues.

Education

Instruction is given in the form of seminars and the language of instruction is English. For more detailed information, please refer to the course description. The course description will be available at least one month before the course starts.

Forms of examination

a. The course is examined on the basis of written assignments and oral presentations.

The principles for weighting individual assignments are described in the grading criteria.

The language of examination is English.

For more detailed information, please refer to the course description. The course description will be available at least one month before the course starts.

If a student has a certificate with recommendations for special pedagogical support due to a long-term disability, the examiner may adapt the examination or allow the student an alternative examination.

b. Grades will be set according to a seven-point scale related to the learning objectives of the course:

A = Excellent

B = Very good

C = Good

D = Satisfactory

E = Adequate

Fx = Fail, some additional work required

F = Fail, much more work required

c. Students will be informed of the written grading criteria when the course starts. Any announced grading criteria related to the learning objectives are binding.

d. In order to pass the course, students must receive a grade of E or higher (or G where applicable) on all examination tasks.

Assignments not submitted on time will not be graded. Students who miss a deadline will be referred to the next examination opportunity.

e. At least three examination opportunities should be offered within a one-year period. At least one examination opportunity will be offered during a year when the course is not given.

Students who receive the grade Fx or F (or U where applicable) twice by the same examiner are entitled to have another examiner appointed for the next examination, unless there are special reasons to the contrary. Such requests should be addressed to the Director of Studies.

Students who receive the grade E or higher (or G where applicable) may not retake the examination to attain a higher grade.

f. This course does not include any opportunities to complete a supplementary assignment in order to convert the grade Fx into a passing grade.

Interim

When the syllabus is discontinued, students have the right to be examined according to this syllabus once per semester during a transition period of three semesters.

Limitations

This course may not be included in a degree together with a course, taken in Sweden or elsewhere, of identical or partially similar content.
