Course content

The course treats the spiritual and material life of Egypt until the Roman conquest ca 30 B.C. The emphasis is on the Pharaonic era ca 3000-1000 B.C. Through the study of the history, religion, literature and art of Egypt, you will become acquainted with a distinctive and viable civilisation which has an impact also on our own culture. The study of material from the collections of the Mediterranean museum (Medelhavsmuseet) is included. The course constitutes a complementary to subjects such as art, archaeology, history, literature, religion and others.

Learning outcomes

Having completed the course the student will be able to account for the spiritual and material life in Egypt up to the time of the Roman conquest A.D. 30. Furthermore, the student is expected to be able to stand in a critical relation to various groups of ancient source material and modern theories.

Education

The teaching takes place in the form of lectures and studies of material in Medelhavsmuseet in Stockholm or Museum Gustavianum in Uppsala.

Forms of examination

- The following methods of examination are used: obligatory attendance and written examination.
- Grades are given according to a criterion referenced seven-point scale.
A = Excellent
B = Very good
C = Good
D = Satisfactory

E = Adequate
Fx = Insufficient
F = Fail

c) The grading criteria for this course are to be distributed at the beginning of the course.

d) A grade of at least E is required in order to obtain a grade for the course.

e) In order to obtain at least a grade of E, a student who has received F or Fx has the right to an additional four tests provided the course is still offered. A student who has received a grade of E or higher may not take the test again in order to get a higher grade.

A student who has received the grade Fx or F twice on a given test by the same examiner can, on application, be granted a new examiner, unless there are specific reasons against it. The application should be addressed to the board of the department.

Interim

When the course is no longer offered or its contents have been essentially revised, the student has the right to be examined according to this course syllabus once per semester for a three-semester period. However, the restrictions above still hold.

Limitations

This course cannot be included in a degree together with a passed course, within the country or abroad, in which the content fully or partly overlaps with that of this course.
