- Definitions and delimitation of the family care concept along with legislative frameworks and public health and social care guidelines
- The situation of family care in an international perspective
- The place of family care in different welfare models: care distribution between the welfare state, family/relatives and the market in an international perspective
- Professional interaction with family members/relatives in different situations along with attitudes and values concerning family care
- Collaboration and cooperation with other professions.

Learning outcomes

Upon successful completion of the course participants shall be able to

- analyse the meaning of family care from different theoretical perspectives
- describe and problematize conditions for the family in different welfare models
- demonstrate knowledge of and critically reflect on family care and the care situation in today's society both in Sweden and internationally
- understand the importance of professional behaviour towards clients' family/relatives in different situations and reflect on own attitudes and values
- analyse hindrances and possibilities from the family perspective concerning collaboration and cooperation between the different professions that may be involved.

Education

The course is half-time.

Instruction is in the form of lectures, seminars and application exercises.

At the end of the course participants are required to submit a written evaluation.

Forms of examination

Grades are related to the specified learning outcomes and set according to the following scale:

A Excellent outstanding performance

B Very good above average standard but with some errors

C Good generally sound work but with a number of notable errors

D Satisfactory fair but with significant shortcomings

E Sufficient performance meets the minimum criteria

Fx Fails some more work required before the credit can be awarded

F Fail completely unacceptable performance

Information on grading criteria and forms of examination will be handed out at the start of the course.

To pass students must have obtained at least grade E on written assignments and satisfied other demands of the course.

For information on examination and make up examination regulations as approved by the Board of the Department of Social Work, see separate information sheet.

Participants have the right to request re-examination with another examiner if failed twice. Such requests must be made in writing to the director of studies no later than one year after the course is concluded.

Plagiarism and other attempts to mislead (e.g. self-plagiarism) at examinations or other assessments of study achievement will result in reporting for suspected cheating, which can lead to disciplinary measures.

Examination task with graded assessment: an individual oral test or written assignment.

Further demands of the course:

Participation in seminars in accordance with teacher instructions; failure to attend a seminar to be compensated for with a written assignment.

The grade given for the course is based on the following:

The grade obtained for the individual examination task together with attendance at lectures and active participation in seminars.

Consequences of getting grade Fx or F:

See the Department's guidelines concerning examinations and make up examinations.
