

Education plan

for

Master's Programme in Middle Eastern Studies
Masterprogram i Mellanösternstudier

120.0 Higher Education
Credits
120.0 ECTS credits

Programme code:	HMENO
Valid from:	Spring 2019
Date of approval:	2015-03-03
Changed:	2018-09-12
Department:	Department of Asian and Middle Eastern studies

Decision

This general syllabus was adopted by the Faculty Board of Humanities on 2015-03-03 and revised on 2018-09-12.

Prerequisites and special admittance requirements

Bachelor's degree (including a bachelor's thesis comprising a minimum of 15 ECTS) within the main field of Middle Eastern Languages and Cultures, or equivalent, and English B/English 6.

Programme structure

The Master's Programme in Middle Eastern Studies is an interdisciplinary program that provides in-depth knowledge of the languages and cultures of the Middle East and North Africa, as well as area studies as an academic discipline.

The program has two study paths: Arabic and Area Studies.

Study path 1 (Arabic) is intended for students who have already studied Arabic, and provides additional training in the Arabic language by developing the student's ability to process and use Arabic source material in scientific analysis.

Study path 2 (Area Studies) is intended for students who have not studied Arabic or who wish to focus on regional studies, and provides advanced studies of the societies of the Middle East and North Africa.

The program's joint courses covers both area studies in general and studies of the Middle East and North Africa in particular, as well as scientific methodology and academic writing. The program also gives the student the opportunity of choosing a number of courses in other main fields.

Within the programme there is the possibility of doing an internship, field studies, as well as studies abroad in that the student can choose to study the elective courses in the third semester at a university in the Middle East and North Africa.

The programme comprises four semesters of full time studies and consists of obligatory courses of 75 ECTS. Within the second semester of the program 15 ECTS consist of elective courses and in the third semester 30 ECTS consist of optional studies which can be devoted to courses at Stockholm university or another university, in Sweden or abroad, internship or field studies.

The programme ends with a master's thesis comprising 30 ECTS. In total, 60 ECTS credits will be studied in the main field of Middle Eastern languages and cultures.

The program prepares the students for work in business, management, international organizations, research and development projects, as well as media and journalism, where an extensive knowledge of the Middle East and North Africa and/or good knowledge of the Arabic language is required. The program will also provide eligibility for studies on the PHD level.

The language of instruction is English.

Goals

For a Degree of Master (120 credits)

Knowledge and understanding:

The student shall:

- demonstrate knowledge and understanding in the main field of study, including both broad knowledge of the field and a considerable degree of specialised knowledge in certain areas of the field as well as insight into current research and development work, and
- demonstrate specialised methodological knowledge in the main field of study.

Competence and skills

The student shall:

- demonstrate the ability to critically and systematically integrate knowledge and analyse, assess and deal with complex phenomena, issues and situations even with limited information
- demonstrate the ability to identify and formulate issues critically, autonomously and creatively as well as to plan and, using appropriate methods, undertake advanced tasks within predetermined time frames and so contribute to the formation of knowledge as well as the ability to evaluate this work
- demonstrate the ability in speech and writing both nationally and internationally to clearly report and discuss his or her conclusions and the knowledge and arguments on which they are based in dialogue with different audiences, and
- demonstrate the skills required for participation in research and development work or autonomous employment in some other qualified capacity.

Judgement and approach

The student shall:

- demonstrate the ability to make assessments in the main field of study informed by relevant disciplinary, social and ethical issues and also to demonstrate awareness of ethical aspects of research and development work
- demonstrate insight into the possibilities and limitations of research, its role in society and the responsibility of the individual for how it is used, and
- demonstrate the ability to identify the personal need for further knowledge and take responsibility for his or her ongoing learning.

Courses

Term 1

Scientific Methods and Research Ethics, 7.5 ECTS credits (main field Philosophy)

An Introduction to the Middle East, 7.5 ECTS credits, (main field Middle Eastern Languages and Cultures)

Middle Eastern Studies: Debating a Discipline, 7.5 ECTS credits, (main field Middle Eastern Languages and Cultures)

For study path 1:

Advanced Text Analysis, 7.5 ECTS credits, (main field Middle Eastern Languages and Cultures)

For study path 2:

Human Rights in the Middle East, Turkey and East Asia, 7.5 ECTS credits, (main field Middle Eastern Languages and Cultures)

Term 2

Advanced Academic English, 7.5 ECTS credits (main field English)
Themes in Middle East Ethnography: Discourse, Politics, Culture, 7.5 ECTS, (main field Middle Eastern Languages and Cultures)

Term 3

Elective courses of in total 30 ECTS credits. Here there is a possibility of choosing Internship, 30 ECTS or 15 ECTS, and/or Field Studies, 15 ECTS. The elective courses can also be replaced with studies abroad. The choice of courses is done in consultation with the Director of studies.

Term 4

For study path 1:

Middle Eastern Language and Cultures, Arabic – Master's Course, 30 ECTS, (main field Middle Eastern Languages and Cultures)

For study path 2:

Middle Eastern Language and Cultures, Area Studies - Master's Course, 30 ECTS credits, (main field Middle Eastern Languages and Cultures)

For specific entry requirements se the relevant syllabus. The available electives are announced on www.hum.su.se/kursutbud at the latest on September 15th and March 15th respectively.

The combined total of first-cycle courses may not exceed 30 ECTS credits.

Degree

The program leads to a Master's Degree in Middle Eastern Languages and Cultures

Misc

Transition arrangements:

When the programme is discontinued, students have the right to complete their studies in accordance with this syllabus within an additional period of two years after the nominal duration of the programme. This is subject to the restrictions specified in the syllabi for the courses included in the programme; alternatively, equivalent training will be offered.