Course content

This course explores the changing role of higher education in a globalised society. The course engages with theory, policy and practice of internationalisation as a process of globalisation and its interrelationship across structural, organisational, academic and curricular boundaries. Participants will gain knowledge about researching international higher education critically by applying comparative analytic perspectives.

Learning outcomes

To pass the course the student should be able to:

- demonstrated knowledge of current theory, policy and practice in higher education within the field of international and comparative perspectives,
- critically analyse higher education policy within its structural, organisational, academic, and curriculum boundaries,
- critically examine international higher education from comparative perspectives.

Education

The course contains compulsory instruction which combines lectures, workshops, discussions and group work to achieve the learning outcomes. Included in the course is obligatory presentation of students own examination as well as critical review of another student's examination task. Students are required to attend 80% of the compulsory course sessions. Student absences of more than 20% of the course sessions must be compensated via additional course assignments.

Forms of examination

The course is examined through individual written assignment.

Beyond a written assignment students must have attended at least 80% of all compulsory course sessions. Students with more than 40% absence from the compulsory course session must retake the course.

Student achievement is graded according to a seven grade, criteria referenced scale:

Passing grades (in descending order)

A = Excellent

B = Very Good

C = Good

D = Satisfactory

E = Sufficient

Failing Grades

Fx = Fail, some more work needs to be done

F = Fail, major work needs to be done

The grading criteria for the course is presented in the course description.

To pass the course at least an E grade is required on the written assignment as well as completed opposition.

F and Fx are failing grades. An F grade requires submitting a new examination task, for an Fx grade revisions need to be made within two weeks of receiving the revisions from the examiner, otherwise the student must conduct a new examination task.

Examination tasks which are not submitted by the deadline stated in the course description will not be assessed.

At least two examinations must be offered for each course occasion.

A student who has already received the grade E at the exam may not re-take the exam to achieve a higher grade.

A student who has received a failing grade after submitting two new examination tasks for a course or part of a course, has the right to be assigned a new examiner, unless circumstances do not allow. Such requests should be made to the department board/ head of department.

Interim

When a course is no longer offered, students may, once per term, for a period of three terms, be examined according to this syllabus.
